

UCLA WRITING PROGRAMS

Graduate Certificate in Writing Pedagogy

- Do you want to join the conversation about student-centered teaching in diverse academic environments?
- Are you interested in the teaching of writing or language?
- Do you want to increase your chances on the job market?

The Graduate Certificate in Writing Pedagogy is the first UCLA certificate to integrate critical thinking about teaching with pedagogical practice. This comprehensive program is designed as a capstone for graduate student-instructors preparing for a variety of academic careers, including tenure-track positions at R1 universities, university administration, and jobs in composition and language.
